Dear Sirs/Mesdames,

On 14 September 2009, patient Evgeniya Drozdova, born 5 June 1981, was admitted as an in-patient for medical treatment with a diagnosis of epilepsy at the Berlin-Brandenburg Epilepsy Centre, where she underwent diagnostic tests from 14-21 September 2009. During these in-patient tests, the diagnosis of epilepsy following birth trauma was confirmed.

Medication on discharge:
- Ergenyl Chrono 500 mg
- Topamax 25 mg
- Sirdalud 2 mg
- Tenoten
- Vitamin TBI (?)

Because her taking of Valproat had led to a substantial weight gain, the patient was advised to transfer gradually to Levetiracetam (Keppra).

Because of the pain in her left shoulder and the back of her head, patient Evgeniya Drozdova was referred for a consultation with Professor Haas, orthopaedic surgeon at the surgical and orthopaedic clinic, in the Charite medical complex in Berlin.
